

PROMPT
(Prompts for Restructuring Oral Motor Phonetic Targets)

PROMPT was developed by Deborah Hayden, with the aid and support of many colleagues, over a period of thirty years.

PROMPT is used to treat most speech disorders from the ages of 6 months through adulthood.

PROMPT has been used successfully to treat speech apraxia (also known as “dyspraxia”) and other speech disorders.

PROMPT when utilized completely is designed to be a total therapeutic program which incorporates several different elements such as, small-step programming, positive reinforcement, appropriate pragmatic and language goals.

For more information go to: www.promptinstitute.com and www.apraxia-kids.com

Source: “The History and Evolution of PROMPT
Deborah A. Hayden